

We are looking for a new colleague, a nice, hardworking

Beerman-Barkeeper (male/female)

Brouwerij Hoop in Zaanwijk has been operating as a brewery, restaurant and beer shop since 2016. We have grown rapidly and both the brewery and the restaurant are very busy. All activities are linked to each other and beer is the connecting factor. In the hospitality team we are now urgently looking for a new colleague with specific knowledge.

Our restaurant is doing very well and we are currently transforming the shop into a real beer shop. The colleague in question will take care of the various beer-related matters for both the shop and the restaurant. In addition to being part of the hospitality team, you manage the shop, organize tastings, workshops and guided tours of the brewery. You make sure that these matters are taken care of properly. You consult with the brewers about new beers and what to do with them in the shop and in the restaurant, e.g. in terms of food pairing. You are the fresh, energetic and enthusiastic team-mate who gives meaning to the beer content of the restaurant and the shop, but you are just as easily and gladly involved in the daily operation. The latter is essential and not a matter of 'helping out when you want'. Especially when, as is the case in the high season, there is plenty to do almost every evening.

Are you or do you have...

- available flexibly 5 days a week (including weekends, holidays & closing services);
 - several years of experience in a catering job;
 - proven experience with / knowledge of craft beer;
- interest in / experience in providing guided tours, tastings, workshops;
 - good knowledge of the Dutch and English languages;
 - in possession of the certificate 'Social Hygiene' (or equivalent);

...then we would like to meet you!

We offer you a nice place to work, with enthusiastic colleagues and friendly guests. A varied job, because at Brouwerij Hoop no day is the same. We receive (literally) our neighbors, but thanks to the proximity of the Zaanse Schans also guests from all over the world. They come to us to eat and drink in a relaxed setting at a special location. Restaurant, brewery and shop are located in a number of connected buildings. This summer we will also start with the Beer Club where the brewery will be the home base of course.

In short, not just an average hospitality job at an average location, but really something special!

Are you the person we are looking for? Then send us your motivation letter with CV (and references) to Sheby Duursma, our Manager: management@brouwerijhoop.nl
